

Stewart is pleased to invite your firm and your families to submit a work sample to provide video meeting enlivenment services as referenced herein. Please note that all correspondence, questions, and communications shall be through Stewart Marketing in written form only via email or social media. Or delivered via GrubHub with a BLT.

Your top-notch proposals, designs, and communications with our team over the past years (how many years has 2020 been now?) have not gone unnoticed, and we are pleased to invite you to the next step in the holiday procurement process.

With Halloween behind us and the candy long gone, Stewdolp is ready to bring on the next sweet treat: a video chat with his "deerest" buddies. He doesn't want his woodland friends to get Zoom fatigue, so he wants to spruce up the video backgrounds and winter décor.

Be sure to add yourself or another special guest to the meeting! Will Stewdolp and his friends be talking about what to get each other for the holidays? Will they be plotting to build ArcGIS maps locating all the snow men with edible carrot noses? Who knows? The fun is up to you and your best schooling-from-home student interns.

The project description and specifics are outlined below:

PROJECT DESCRIPTION
